Agency overview

The NSW public sector is the largest employer in Australia. Over 400,000 people work in the sector to deliver a wide range of services to the people of NSW. We have ten lead Departments and many smaller agencies and have jobs in every part of the state. We shape policy, work with customers, and give people in NSW equal opportunities and access to services.

Primary purpose of the role

The opportunity to work in a NSW Government department or agency at the Grade 5/6 level. Roles at this level are usually support roles but with some autonomy. People in these roles assist in the design, delivery and management of policies, projects, and services.

Key accountabilities

- Create and use project plans to track project delivery, complete tasks, and report on progress, budget, and outcomes
- Gather information and contribute to the development of policies, projects, practices, and reporting
- Undertake basic research and analysis and use this to prepare documents for planning, reporting and decision making
- Respond to and resolve complex enquiries, ensuring the provision of accurate and consistent advice and information to resolve issues
- Coordinate and manage records and databases, complying with administrative systems, processes, and policies
- Provide administrative, project and/or operational support to the team/unit
- Improve efficiency by using good administrative practices, and relevant systems and procedures.

Key challenges

- Deliver project, policy or other support that has tight deadlines and competing priorities
- Manage your work in a way that allows you to address unforeseen issues
- Give high quality support to those within your team and to other key clients and stakeholders.

Capabilities for the role

The NSW public sector capability framework describes the capabilities (knowledge, skills and abilities) needed to perform a role. There are four main groups of capabilities: personal attributes, relationships, results and business enablers, with a fifth people management group of capabilities for roles with managerial responsibilities. These groups, combined with capabilities drawn from occupation-specific capability sets where relevant, work together to provide an understanding of the capabilities needed for the role.

The capabilities are separated into focus capabilities and complementary capabilities.

Focus capabilities

Focus capabilities are the capabilities considered the most important for effective performance of the role. These capabilities will be assessed at recruitment.
