Disability and inclusive workplaces

Increase your disability knowledge, access disability training and learn more about employing people with disability.

Almost one in 5 people in Australia have a disability and this proportion is increasing with an ageing population. We need to increase the representation of people with disability working in the public sector.

The NSW Government is building an inclusive public sector that reflects our diverse communities and helps improve government services.

Increase your disability knowledge

What is disability?

Information and videos on the diversity of disability.

→

Disability inclusion training

Complete disability training as an employee or a manager.

→

People with disability at work

Get a better understanding of how people with disability engage in the workplace and the barriers that can prevent them from getting work.

→